

Cracking Communication Conference

Tuesday 13th November 2012

Manchester

On Tuesday 13th November, the Trust is running its second Cracking Communication conference, this time in Manchester, for up to 200 school leaders. This informative event will offer information and advice to help schools support outcomes in all children and young people through enhancing and promoting good language and communication skills.

This conference will provide you with:

- The best approaches to support children with SLCN or low attainment including how to evidence progress in their communication
- A chance to hear from other schools and network with professionals working across the sector
- Practical advice and tools
- Information on the latest research and evidenced interventions

Date: Tuesday 13th November 2012

Time: 9:15am – 4:15pm

Location: Kings House Conference Centre, Manchester, M1 7HB

Cost: £150 special early bird rate

To book: Please visit www.thecommunicationtrust.org.uk/conference

Speakers and highlights will include:

- Anne Duffy, HMI, Ofsted
- Professor Geoff Lindsay, Director, Better Communication Research Programme
- Wendy Lee, Professional Director, The Communication Trust
- Delegates will also be able to choose from eight practical workshops delivered by sector professionals and visit an exhibition to network and see resources firsthand

Who should attend?

- Head and deputy head teachers
- Curriculum leads, leads for teaching and learning and anyone implementing National Curriculum changes in their schools
- SENCO's
- Commissioners in the education and health sectors

PEARSON

For more information please visit www.thecommunicationtrust.org.uk/conference or contact Jo Bolton on 0207 843 2526 or jbolton@thecommunicationtrust.org.uk