The Shine a Light Awards are back with brand new categories for 2012

YOUTH JUSTICE SETTING OF THE YEAR

The search is on for best practice and excellence in children and young people's communication!

- Do you work as part of a setting or agency doing great things to support young offenders with communication needs?
- Do you make sure that young offenders with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) are spotted early and supported?

The youth justice award is open to youth justice settings across the sector, including the judiciary and police force. This category asks settings to highlight...

- How you have focused on the speech, language and communication development of all young offenders
- How you have worked to identify those who may be having problems with these skills and ensure they receive appropriate support
- How you have worked to involve parents to support positive results for young offenders with SLCN
- The partnerships you have built with other professionals or agencies to improve the speech, language and communication support available to young offenders
- The investment you have put into staff training to improve speech, language and communication awareness and practice
