OUTSTANDING STEVENAGE PRIMARY SCHOOL HONOURED AT SHINE A LIGHT AWARDS FOR ITS COMMITMENT TO DEVELOPING CHILDREN'S COMMUNICATION

Broom Barns Community Primary School in Stevenage has been highly commended in the Primary School of the Year category at an awards ceremony in London for its continued commitment to developing its pupils' communication skills. The 2017 Shine a Light Awards, run by Pearson in partnership with The Communication Trust, took place on 23rd March 2017 and were hosted by singer and theatre star Gareth Gates.

The 2017 Shine a Light Awards is a national awards scheme that celebrates innovative work and excellent practice in supporting children and young people's communication development.

Broom Barns Community Primary School has taken a 'hearts and minds' approach to ensuring that provision for supporting children's communication and language is of a high quality. The school has appointed a lead for communication and language who has received additional training to ensure specialist knowledge of children's development of speech and language skills.

All staff receive training with the support of speech and language therapists on the importance and impact of communication skills. In Nursery and Reception years all children are screened on entry and then termly as necessary. The results are discussed with an independent speech and language therapist, with the children then identified for different intervention groups, communication enhancement groups and more specialist support from the NHS or an independent therapist.

Progression tool data shows that all children receiving interventions have made fantastic progress, and that 85% have age-related skills after taking part. This has also had an impact on children's literacy skills, with 89% of children achieving age-related expectations in reading and 82% in writing last year. These were all above national averages.

Jayne Carrant, Headteacher at Broom Barns Community Primary School, said: "The Shine a Light Awards were an inspirational afternoon. We accepted the award in recognition of all the hard work and commitment that our staff give to pupils speech, language and communication development. We are thrilled!"

Gareth Gates, host of the 2017 Shine a Light Awards, said: "The dedication of Broom Barns Community Primary School is outstanding. Being able to communicate with confidence is often taken for granted but for many it is an everyday struggle. I have found my stutter crippling at times but I have learnt ways to manage my difficulties with the support of others.

“It is heart-warming to know that children and young people across England are getting the support they need to develop and achieve goals that may not have been possible otherwise. Broom Barns Community Primary School should be extremely proud of their award.”

Chris Hall, Director of Clinical Assessment at Pearson, said: “Congratulations to Broom Barns Community Primary School for its highly commended achievement. Creating a Communication Lead teacher with extensive training for all staff shows the dedication the school has towards bettering its pupils’ communication skills. The clear progression screening process that has been put in place across the school provides a great example for others to follow.

“This is the fifth year we have run the Awards and we remain blown away by the standard of applications. They give an amazing insight into the unsung work that is taking place across the country to improve the speech, language and communication skills of children and young people.”

Octavia Holland, Director of The Communication Trust, said: “Congratulations to Broom Barns Community Primary School and everyone who triumphed at the Shine a Light Awards. They have shown what can be achieved when expertise, enthusiasm and dedication is given to children and young people who struggle to communicate. These Awards highlight the very best practice that is taking place in settings across the country. We would like to say a huge thank you to Pearson for their long-standing support.”
